“ I will always cherish the times spent with Amie. She was a Godsend to and for me and she often remarked the same to me. I looked forward to seeing her weekly. Every Thursday. I looked forward to it. Amie was 'good to the bone', as they say it! She was highly intelligent, always willing to listen to your take or side on matters which made for a great conversationalist. Although she couldn't see much before her eyes anymore, she never lost her yearning for learning and it far exceeded most people these days. I can still see her with her face pressed into her sudoku magazines doing those number puzzles! Or to the TV watching her 'Cardinals'. We laughed, both cried together and prayed for one another. Yes, once in awhile God sends you an earthly angel to love on and to love you and Amie was mine. And I will never forget you Amie. Thank you Cheryl for sharing the best woman in the world with us all. She was loved and will be missed!

“ I first met you as a fellow volunteer for Women's Crisis Center. It was a pleasure to get reacquainted with you and visit with you. Thanks for teaching us crochet, sharing your stories with us. You had so many talents. I know you are at rest now in the perpetual light of the Lord, beautiful friend.
