“ Debbie had a dry wit and good sense of humor. We nicknamed her Perryville One Chip because I teased her about her chocolate chip cookies having just one chip in each one. Well, there were more than one chip but not many more. The name stayed with her during her time with us. She was fun to be around at work and livened things up at times. She fitted in easily with others and every year shared the bounty of her garden with others. She was just a delight to know and to have had with us.

We were saddened to learn of Debbie's passing. When we think of her, we think of her kindness and love that she so generously gave to everyone. She made herself available to listen to others' concerns, prayed for their loved ones, and gave of herself to those who had any need of her. Debbie was patient and kind, and she always comforted others. She never was boastful but about her grandchildren and was encouraging to others. Debbie was a lady of prayer who worshipped as if her very being depended upon her relationship with God, and for her it did. Loving others was what she excelled at doing. We are thankful to have had her with us and for the time she was given to us. We miss her, but we know that she is at peace as she waits for those she loved. Blessings to Debbie and her much loved family.

“ Words seem inadequate to express my sympathy for your family. I pray that your memories of Debbie and the love of your family give you strength in the days ahead. And may your memories be ones that give you comfort and reminders of happier times. If the future seems overwhelming, just remember that it comes one moment at a time. God Bless & Hang in there!

“Debbie was always one who would say “Good Morning” to me at work when I met her as our work schedules allowed. Debbie was a forthright person who was very helpful to me for many years as; I knew her only from work. My wife Brenda and I, always respected Debbie and knew she treated us all as friends. Many people who worked with Debbie May have had a better relationship personally with her. Brenda and I just want to say that it is hard to forget someone who is always willing to listen, understand an issue and do her 100% best to help everyone she worked with. I will miss Debbie as; she was my go to in certain circumstances at work, when I needed her help. Debbie was a good friend to me as well as my wife Brenda in past years. GOD Bless her soul, as We know she is in a much better surrounding than this earthly life would offer anyone. “Debbie has wings now!” We should have asked her to say “Hello” to Jesus for us. Debbie, Say hello to our family members who went on before you.
