“ I am so sorry to hear of Ed's passing. He was a great guy and dear friend for most of our lives. I have many wonderful memories of our time in high school. Eddie and I were classmates at St Vincent and enjoyed many good times together. My sincere sympathy goes out to Doris, Elmer and the entire Balsman family. May God bless you all.

“ I have so many memories of Uncle Eddie whistling while Melody or Crystal would twirl around. Melody always wanted big hair, but Crystal had big hair, she had a long red ponytail or rather strawberry blond ponytail and bangs. Crystal had a shy demeanor, but Melody always had something up her sleeve. He could make those little girls twirl like a ballerina and shine as bright as the sun.

I have memories of Uncle Eddie and Uncle Elmer in the basement of Grandpa's house standing in a line stuffing sausages and laughing. All of the Balsmann men were very handsome.

I have memories of Uncle Eddie crying when he viewed mom in her casket. He was a weeper.

I have a memory of Uncle Eddie and Aunt Doris in the hospital room and Uncle Eddie lying in bed suffering. I did not like to look at the picture for very long, but at first glance, I could see Little Eddie so plainly in his face. I had never seen that strong resemblance before. It almost scared me, it was like Uncle Eddie would live on in Little Eddie.

And I will always have a memory of how much Uncle Eddie and Aunt Doris loved each other. I am glad he died before her, because he would have had such a hard time living without her.

It will be hard for Aunt Doris too, but she will make it.

Ed and Josephine Balsmann raised some very strong headed children, sometimes a little stubborn, who were all beautiful and were blessed with the gift of faith.
