“ I'm from St. Louis originally, but I moved to Perryville fresh out of college to pursue my first "big girl" job as a reporter for The Republic-Monitor. I think I first met Gib through Lauren Boland -- he used to make all kinds of contraptions and inventions for United Enterprises so the amazing crew there could do work a little easier. I met him just after Joan passed; he was in a bad way. And for whatever reason, something compelled me to start visiting him frequently and spend time with him to ease his loneliness. So I'd come over and chat with he and his son (who also worked at United), and I got to learn so much about him and what he did for the community. Who he was and why it mattered. He loaned me some amazing records and we'd swap baked goods or chili. He was a true friend and a kind, kind man. I'm so sorry to hear of this loss.

“ Gib was truly a light to this world. The Weinrich family are indebted to him for the tender care and love he showed "Booger" for many years and extended to all of us. I know he will be dearly missed, as this world has lost a great man who demonstrated the true character of a child of God. Our deepest sympathy and love is extended to Jeff and all your family. May God comfort you with sweet memories and the knowledge he is home with his Lord and savior.

Love,

“ I will forever keep Gib’s laughter and his ability to tell jokes in my memory, when I think of him. Gib loved his wife Joan and his children. If you were a friend of one of them, then you were part of Gibs family. He reminded me of Red Skeleton, as he always had a joke he wanted to tell you, but would get so tickled he could hardly get it out. His laughter was infectious. My prayers are with you all, and wish we could be there for you. I had just found my Mothers pictures from Joan and Gibs wedding anniversary party this week. And they made me smile. Seeing Gib so happy that day, makes me think that Gib wanted to share one more happy memory this week. He was just special like that.

“ So sorry for your loss. Gib was a delight to visit with. He came to me during the 2017 Solar Eclipse planning and was so excited for the event. We continued to share conversations long after the eclipse and he was in my office only a few months ago to say hello and catch up. I will miss him.

“ We are very sorry for your loss. We had just gotten to know Gib in the last two years. We bought the house he built about 60 yrs ago. Harold Streiler was my father in law and he had bought the home from Gib. When Gib was mowing, he would usually stop to visit for a bit. He invited us to use the pond and fish when we wanted to. I loved that red barn and had sent him a couple of striking photos that I had taken of it in different seasons. I see that his service is private, we would attend if we could, but we understand the circumstances. Sincerely, Jennifer and Dave Streiler
