“ We shared a lot of memories, shared a lot of music, shared a lot of wine. In the end, I don't think it's about what you've accomplished, it's about leaving all you cherish behind as you head to a better place. With "Southern Lady" blasting in the background and a cold drink in his hand, he's grinning from ear to ear !! RIP my friend, you will be missed.

“Lynn was my friend for 38 years. He was so dismal at times that I called him Old Buzzard but he had the best heart. He loved me and my daughter with all that he had. He helped me and stood by me when I was a young mother and didn't have a lot of friends in Perryville. I helped him when both of his parents passed away. We met when we were both young punks and have remained friends to the end. I will cherish the memories that we made. I will miss him with all I have in me. He is no longer lonely and no longer in pain. I am grateful for that. I will miss you, you old buzzard, love you with all of my heart. RIP my friend. Smooches!
