Rex and I never knew each other but, his dad and I were quite close from the time I was five to the age of 15. I was very close to his grandfather John, who was 1 of my Mom's 7 brothers, Mom was one of 4 sisters. They were from Star Miss. near Jackson. 3 of the brothers and 1 sister wound up here in Stl because my father got on the wrong train during WW2 ended up in Jackson where he met my 17 year old mother in a diner where she was working. Any one may contact me. 314 638 6200. Jimmy.

“ *I have already left a comment and a few memories Rex and I shared.
Today I'm having very hard time excepting that he is gone.
We were life long friends and brothers. I just don't understand sometimes on why the good is always taken it seems just to early and the evil is still among us.
I love you my friend and I hope you can hear me as I talk to you everyday. God bless*

“ I met Rex when i was 11 years old I remember the day like it was yesterday. I was swimming in a pond by our houses and here come this thin small but taller than me boy walking his dog and if my memory serves me right his dog was bigger than he was.

We just became friends from that day forward, best of friends for many many years after.

Rex was my best man in my wedding. We've watched each other's families grow. He was a great father to his children the kind of Dad that any child would want. He was an awesome husband to Kim a really really took care of his family. His family came first and he did a wonderful job of taking care of them.

Rex was the kind of man that planned everything that he did it seems like and he was very organized and everything you did so his plans normally work out in his favor. He was the type of man that when he started something he did not stop until it was finished he never gave up on anything, he never quit if he started it no matter what it was he seen it through to the end.

I can talk for hours and hours about the memories I have of him and I growing up together.

I feel so hurt inside that I was not able to see him and talk with him one last time. I'm so broken-hearted for Kim and Jackie and Zach I cannot even put into words how they must feel. His sister his brother everyone is family my heart and prayers go out to.

I will miss him dearly and cannot wait for the day that we can see each other again.

The world has lost truly one of the good guys and Heaven has gained a remarkable angel.

I love you Rex my dear brother until we can meet again as you are looking over your family and friends looking on me every now and again.

I love you buddy and will miss you so very very much.
