Scott was born on March 12, 1959 in St. Louis, Missouri to Herbert and Evelyn Biehle. He graduated from Lafayette High School in 1977 and went on to receive his Bachelors degree in Economics and Journalism from the University of Missouri. He received his Masters in Business Administration from Washington University in St. Louis. On August 22, 1981 he married Karen Hargus in Nevada, Missouri. Scott is survived by his wife Karen of over 30 years, daughters Lauren and Heather Biehle, mother Evelyn Biehle, sister Patti Biehle, brother Keith Biehle, and many loving nieces, nephews, and extended family. Scott was a loving father, husband, and friend to all.

The following was written by his daughter Heather:

I've never faced a more difficult endeavor than to attempt to describe the life of my father, Scott Biehle, in a few hundred words.

Scott was an adventurer, a brilliant mind with the sharpest wit, a nurturer; the lone man in a household of four. His energy is indescribable and anyone lucky enough to have shared even a few minutes with him would surely say the same. He was the most well-read person on the planet and a magician when it came to translating his thoughts onto paper. He was the only person that it pained me to imagine disappointing since he was so unwavering in communicating how proud we made him every single day. He was moved by the simplest beauty be it a major 7th guitar chord or the early-morning glimpse of a fox on a golf course. He appreciated the wonder of nature and always encouraged us to go and do and explore whenever we saw the opportunity. His devotion to my mother was blaringly obvious throughout my entire life- enough to make my childhood self totally grossed out and enough to make my adult self never want to settle for anything less than a fairytale.

I know he was at peace with the course of his life and told us not to be bitter, not to mourn. But I can't imagine a day that I don't find myself dreaming of one more moment with the person who made it so physically impossible not to crack a smile around. I love you Dad, we all do. You will be so very missed by so very many.

Young & Sons Funeral Home, Inc. in Perryville, MO provided the arrangements.

“ Our thoughts and prayers are with Scott's family. We were classmates with Scott at Washington University Business School. As we now are gathering for our reunion, we will all toast Scott and say a prayer of thanksgiving for having known him.

Janet and Tom Horlacher - March 29, 2016 at 12:00 AM

“ A great humane, human being being who touched us with his humor and warmth. He will be a great addition to God's house and sorely missed here among family and friends.

“ So many memories together Scott. We had a bond as family and a bond for loving music, especially the guitar. It is your warm smile, your LAUGH, and your hugs I will miss most of all. Your time here with us was way to short but you touched and left a positive impression on many lives. Peace is now yours Scott. Love you always, your cousin Gayle Lynn Richardet-Schiller

“ We were sadden to learn about Scott. We always enjoyed visiting with him. It does not seem possible he has left this life. He was a fine individual. We extend deepest sympathy to his family and friends. May God bless you and your family in this time of sorrow. Leonard and Marylyn Ernsbarger Nevada, MO
